McGuire was convicted of forging a pension certificate, and LeFevre, of a postmaster at Climax, was found guilty of unlawfully selling postage stamps and returning them as cancelled, with intent to defraud the government.

THE CITY COUNCILLORS.

MANY MINOR MATTERS MOOTED.

Snow to be Kept Off Sidewalks, and Coasting on Them to be Stopped—Charter Amendments.

The Council met last evening, with every Alderman in his chair, Mayor Belknap presiding. The petition of A. Weiser, for money due him on a contract for improving North Front street, was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. The petition of Robert B. Woodcock and seven others, asking that the southeast corner of Sheldon and Cherry streets be exactly located, was granted. The petition of H. A. Brooks for a sidewalk sign at No. 117 Monroe street, was refused. The petition of Dennis L. Rogers and seven others for two naphtha street lamps, was referred to the Committee on Lamps.

A petition from H. B. Hoyt, P. V. Fox, and others, that the vagrants, bummers and petty offenders who are constantly maintained in the jail at the city expense, be put at some labor which will in a measure compensate the city, was referred to the Committee on Police, as was also a petition to the like effect from James Rogers, Wm. D. Beckwith, and others. The City Marshal was granted thirty days additional time in which to collect the Wealthy avenue and Cass street rolls. The assessment roll for Leonard and West Front street, was referred to Ald. Patterson, Whitney and Sanders, as a special committee. The City Controller's report was read, accepted and adopted, and orders directed to be drawn for the same.

City Attorney Ransom made a report on the matter of Eliza Norton, which was filed and asked a week longer in which to report on the matter affecting the street railway and tall ground. The estimate for the improvement of West Fulton street was placed on file. The petition of B. W. Barnard and several others was referred to the Committee on Streets. The report of B. F. McReynolds, Secretary of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners on street lights was referred to the Committee on Lamps. Ald. Killian, from the Committee on Claims and Accounts, reported the accounts of Clerk Rathbun, of the Superior Court, and Clerk Tozer, of the Police Court, as correct. On file.

Ald. Gilbert, of the Committee on Ways and Means, reported adversely on the petition of W. A. Withey, to sell pictures of his own manufacture without paying the usual license; adopted. From the same, a recommendation that the city pay a judgment of $30, which had been obtained against H. S. Holden and Geo. A. Love, members of the Board of Health, in the Jacob Van Dam case, and recommending that the City Clerk tabulate all ordinances that conflict with the city charter, that they may be repealed, was accepted and placed on file. The remonstrance of Sidney A. Roberts and other against an assessment roll and asking that it be amended was referred to the Aldermen of the Third Ward. Ald. DeGraaf, from the Committee on Poor, reported adversely on the petition of Mrs. J. Doherty; adopted.

Ald. Pierce, Committee on Lamps, recommended that a naphtha lamp be placed on Kent and Ottawa streets; adopted.

Ald. More gave notice that the Committee on Ordinances would meet on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Ald. De Graaf, from the special committee on the straightening of the north line of Prescott street, reported confirming the former report, recommending the purchase of the property at the price named, $356; reported. Ald. Saunders, as special committee, reported on the City Marshal's accounts for improvements on Page street; accepted and adopted. The assessment roll for grading and paving on Jefferson avenue, on the north line, was taken from the table and returned for one week longer to hear further appeals. The La Grave street assessment roll was reported from the committee and the Clerk directed to give notice for appeals. J. M. Stanley and Jos. Miller were given permission to pile building material on the sidewalks.

Ald. Creque moved to contract for an electric light from the Houseman to the Ledyard block, to be fifty feet above the street; amended by Ald. DeGraaf to also place such light at the corner of Bartlett and Summit streets; by Ald. Yates, to also place one at corner of Shawmut avenue and West Division streets; on motion of Ald. Nester a substitute to refer it to the Committee on Lamps carried.

A resolution was adopted, offered by Ald. Gilbert, that the City Marshal be directed to enforce the ordinances relative to keeping the snow and ice off of pavements, and that the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners be requested to prevent coasting on sidewalks. Ald. More presented a resolution that the City Surveyor be directed to locate the south east corner of Sheldon and Cherry streets. As the locating of this point fixes the present boundaries of a large number of residents' properties considerable discussion ensued, in which Mr. Wilmarth, a property owner in that locality suggested it be referred to some legal authority before action, as it was a question whether it was good policy to change long established lines. The resolution was first tabled and afterward placed on file. The question of a naphtha lamp on North College avenue, at the crossing of the Detroit & Milwaukee railroad, was referred to the Committee on Lamps. Ald. Saunders introduced a resolution that the City Marshal be directed to give a list of persons and properties upon which collections had not been made for the grading and graveling of Page street; carried. Ald. Yates asked for a contour survey and chart of Ball (Forty) Park; Committee on Parks. A motion for Council to go into Committee of the Whole was lost. On motion of Ald. DeGraaf, the Council adjourned until Wednesday evening to consider charter amendments.

Literary Notes.

"The Trouble with the Stage" will be discussed in the January Century by a writer who claims that the managers first need reforming. Dr. Gladden writes of "Christianity and Popular Amusements" in the same number.

Lord Tennyson has two beautiful grandchildren, Alfred and Charles, sons of the Hon. Lionel Tennyson, the elder son of the poet. It was to his grandchild, Alfred, that Lord Tennyson dedicated his latest collection, "Ballads and Poems" in a verse beginning, "Golden-haired Alf, whose name is one with mine." A portrait of the two children has lately been painted by Mrs. Anna Lee Merritt, the well-known American artist, now resident at London, and a full page engraving of the painting appears in the present issue of the Tennyson family in the Christmas number of St. Nicholas.

AMUSEMENTS.

Something About "Romany Rye" and the Way it Was Presented.

The performance of "Romany Rye" at Powers' Opera House last night was well attended, especially in the "upper tiers." A play of five acts with only one really strong scene, the fourth in the fourth act, enacted by a company, the majority of whom evinced no more dramatic talent than a gang of stone-breakers, is a dose that will nauseate a gallery god and the lads in the upper tiers tried to counteract the bad effects, by "guying" the bad actors and flattering them with such exclamations, as "that's the stuff," "right you are Eliza" and "you are dandies." Barring the scene alluded to above, the play, as given last night, is not the direct kind. The scenery is excellent, and well managed, but why such excellent scenery should be accorded so poor a play seems only explainable in an intention to divert attention from the bad acting. Why the Mr. Snyder, who as Philip Royston, was the abomination of all that can be conceived abominable in acting, should be allowed to go about the country torturing people seems only possible by a diagnosis from the stand point of Christianity, and that Providence has given this man a memory that He might use him as one of His "mysterious ways" in inflicting punishment on erring humanity. From this standpoint Mr. Snyder's effort should be received with fortitude and resignation, and judging from the fact that he has been allowed to pass unmolested through States where capital punishment is in vogue, strengthens this theory. To judge from the infection he gave his lines there is good reason for hoping to see Mr. Dennis in opera next season. Last year his performance of Jack Hearne was satisfactory. Possibly though the defect now noticeable is only natural evil resultant from a repeated appearance in the part. Not having a language versatile enough to give any idea—without a constant repetition of adjectives—of how the other bad little actors conducted themselves, it will be charitable to pass them in silence. The strong feature of the play were the Mother Shipton of Mrs. Jones, and the scenery—only these and nothing more. The play will be repeated to-night. The orchestra did excellent service, and demonstrated how much improvement a regular weekly rehearsal can accomplish.

"The Planter's Wife."

The fact that the Planter's Wife Company has been playing engagements in all of the large cities most of the season strongly verifies the good words said for it by the press. The St. Louis Chronicle had the following:

The mountings of the play were admirable, and its interpretation by the company so strong, and withal, so perfect, that the house was taken completely by storm, and a triumph was scored such as has not been witnessed in Pope's Theater for many a day.

FOUND DEAD.

A Janitor Drops Dead While at His Daily Task.

For a little over a year Kemp Schuidema, who resides in a cottage at the rear of 118 Center street, has been the janitor of the Granville avenue school house. He has performed his daily tasks in the school building regularly and well, and has generally returned home at night from his work a little after 5 o'clock. Last evening he failed to return home and two of his children went to the school-house about 6 o'clock to ascertain the cause of his delay. They found the doors unlocked but did not enter the building and instead reported the absence of their father at police headquarters. Immediately Sergeant Johnson and Officer Soebey started for the school-house. When they arrived they searched all the rooms but found no one. They then went into the basement, where they found Mr. Schuidema dead, near the coal heap. The coal scuttle was about one-half full of coal, the shovel lay as it fell from the man's hands, and the unfortunate lay upon his back as though he had fallen over and expired instantly, which is probably the case. He complained at noon, while at dinner, of a pain in his chest, and it is thought he died of heart disease. The officers conveyed the deceased to his home and immediately summoned Coroner Bradish, who will hold an inquest this morning. Mr. Schuidema was fifty-six years of age, had lived in this city about nine years, and leaves a family, consisting of a wife and five children, the youngest child being nine years old.

RAILROAD NOTES.

John Taylor, agent for the D., G. H. & M., at Owosso, is in the city.

The Port Huron & Northwestern Railroad track between Vassar and East Saginaw, has been relaid with steel rails during the past week.

The city offices of the Michigan Central are being elegantly fitted, and it will require but a few days to place the boys in as fine an office as the city possesses.

Gilbert Appelhof formerly of the C. & W. M. general offices here, but now in the offices of the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific road at St. Louis, is visiting his parents in this city.

A number of prominent railway officials, in company with Railroad Commissioner Innes, will make a trip to Wasepi Junction, to inspect an interlocking switch at that place.

Mr. J. E. Nichols, freight solicitor for the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, has been visiting in the city with relatives and friends. He has recently had more territory added to his field of labor, and will work the whole of Michigan and Indiana.

A meeting of the railroad superintendents of the states of Michigan and Ohio will be held at Detroit to-day, for the purpose of forming an organization of railroad superintendents of those states. A. M. Nichols, General Superintendent of the C. & W. M. of this city, and J. M. Metheny, of the G. R. & L. will attend the meeting.

The Michigan & Ohio, which runs its special Toledo car into this city over the C. & W. M., via Allegan and Holland, has introduced bills of fare on their passenger trains. You give your order while the train is in motion. The conductor telegraphs ahead to the eating station, and when you get there your meal is brought in to you ready and hot.

Says the Kalamazoo Gazette of December 15: The building of the Chicago, Kalamazoo & Saginaw Railroad is an assured fact. At a meeting held in Hastings Wednesday afternoon, a bond was signed by a 100 solid men, and practically turned over to the syndicate as a guarantee that the $45,000 worth of notes already taken for the building of the road into this city will be paid. This amount provides for all right of way, franchises and privileges. Kalamazoo needs but ten more names for $50 each to complete her proportion of the funds to be raised. Contracts will at once be let for ties and preparations made to commence work on the road at the earliest day possible.

A TALE OF EIGHT ORPHANS.

Children Whose Parents' Sins Have Robbed Them of Support.

Judge Perkins, of the Probate Court, will to-day act upon the petitions of eight children belonging to three broken families whom the Superintendents of the Poor desire to send to the State Public School at Coldwater. Two of these children are daughters of James McGuire, sentenced to the Detroit House of Correction for five years, who, with their mother, came on as witnesses in the case and became the city's charge by reason of their poverty. Two more are daughters of Antoinette Lange, recently found guilty in the Superior Court of shop-lifting, and four others are the children of a man and wife by the name of Lovell, from Grandville, who have severed matrimonial relations and divided their progeny between them. The cases of the McGuire and Lovell children will be heard at 2 o'clock and the Lange case at 4 o'clock.
